It Was A Question Of Price And Quality.

Noticing J. T. Hinton's force loading his large wagon with some very handsome goods, we made inquiry as to who was buying and we were told it was a load for Lexington. Mr. Hinton said it was simply a question of price and quality and on these points he took the order easily. Yet there are Paris people who buy goods in Lexington simply for the privilege of paying more.

Death Of J. W. Hughes.

J. W. Hughes, who was struck on the head by a heavy iron lever while operating a tire-setting machine at his shop Thursday night, died at St. Joseph's Hospital, in Lexington, shortly after being received at that institution the same night. Physicians performed a trephine operation in hopes of saving Mr. Hughes' life but he died at 11:20 without regaining consciousness.

The funeral services were conducted at the Episcopal church at 3:30 Sunday afternoon by Rev. R. S. Litsinger. The burial took place in the Paris cemetery where the services at the grave were conducted by the Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias and the Order of Unity. The pall-bearers were Walter Clark, E. B. January, H. O. James, James Porter, Chas. P. Cook, A. C. Adair and L. Woolstein.

Mr. Hughes was a native of England, and had been in business in Paris several years. He was married to Miss Lizzie Gregory, of this city, about ten years ago. From a humble beginning he built up a good business that prospered year by year under his careful management.

He carried a policy for $3,000 in the Endowment Rank A. of P. and one in the Order of Unity for $2,500.

The McClintock Case.

The damage suit of James D. McClintock vs. seven members of the Republican County Committee for $25,000 damages, which occupied the time of the Circuit Court last week, came to a close Saturday afternoon.

After the close of testimony, statements were made by counsel for the plaintiff and the defendants. Arguments were made for the plaintiff by Hon. C. J. Bronston, of Lexington, and Judge Denis Dundon, and R. C. Talbott and Thos. E. Moore, Jr., for the defendants. The jury, after considering the case returned a verdict, giving the plaintiff damages in the sum of $1,500 against each of the seven defendants.

The case was warmly contested on both sides, and some sensational testimony of a political nature was brought out.

Suits were filed in the office of Circuit Clerk Chas. E. Butler yesterday afternoon by Mr. McClintock for $25,000 each against H. S. Clay, A. J. Fee, R. M. Harris, N. A. Moore, W. T. Talbott and H. C. Howard for damages for alleged statements made in affidavits in the late trial for slander, in connection with the resolutions passed and adopted by the County Committee.

We copy the following from a report of the meeting at Lexington of the Department of Current Events of the Women's Club:

Miss Mary Fithian Hutchcraft, one of the attractive new members of the club, gave a beautiful address on 'The History of Jamestown.' This was her first appearance before the club and this charming literary rendition by Miss Hutchcraft, a talented young student of Kentucky University, was quite a treat to the audience. She gave an interesting sketch of Jamestown, its situation, of the principal buildings, the architecture of the reproduction of many famous old historical structures, the historical points of most interest, etc. The first permanent settlement of English speaking people on the American continent was at Jamestown, on the 13th of May, 1607, and the 300th anniversary of this event, which is near at hand, to be celebrated by the nation, was most entertainingly told of in this beautiful address.

Engagement Broken.

The breaking of the engagement of Miss Alice Marjorie Ray, daughter of Wm. F. Ray, and Bristow Draper, the eldest son of E. S. Draper, Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts, has thoroughly aroused Boston society.

The family of Miss Ray sustain her in the reason she gives for the breaking of the engagement, that she is not enough in love with Mr. Draper to marry him. Young Draper is closely akin to some prominent Lexington families. He is related to Col. John R. Allen, Mrs. George Stoll, Charles H. Voorhies and other old families of the Blue Grass.
